The jump to Autumn

As we reach the month of October, we are also entering the middle of Autumn. You probably think that it's nothing new. But because this year's summer period, and not least late summer, did not provide the summery weather that one might have hoped for, this editorial office has decided that summer simply failed to show such that we went straight from spring to autumn.

But now the calendar is actually saying autumn, and October invites to a lot of great autumn activities. Here at NybroTidende, we certainly want to jump start autumn with this October issue!

Have fun (and watch out for fallen leaves) :-)

All Hallows' Eve

October. It is gradually getting colder and darker. October is the month of Halloween. But what is Halloween? A kind of Shrove-tide in the fall? Just an excuse to have fun with dressing up, pumpkins and lots of candy?

Halloween is seen by many as an American expression and in the United States there are many who are almost more fanatic about it than Christmas. Halloween is actually a contraction of All Hallows' Eve and the Danish name is AlleHelgensaften, but there are not many who say anything other than Halloween.

Halloween is always on October 31st, and this year it will be on a Tuesday. This is the case since, according to superstitions, the night between 31st October and November 1st is the night when the dead are able to return to the world of living. Many stories say that they come back to scare people to death or complete what they left unfinished.

One might think that Halloween has both a Christian and a pagan background as is the case with Christmas, but there is no indication that there is an immediate connection between the two. It was, instead, the old Celts in England who celebrated Halloween. It was known as the year's major religious festivity, where they even celebrated the New Year. But as usual, the Catholic Church had something to say about such a pagan custom. At some point it made November 1st its own with All Hallows' Day, and October 31 was then to be All Hallows' Eve. But the traditions we associate with Halloween are derived from the Celts.

The tradition of e.g. cutting a pumpkin is derived from the Celts. Originally they used sugar beets to make lamps in the celebration of their new year. These lamps have had the scary faces that we still carve today. For the purpose of these terrifying lights was to keep ghosts away so that they could not hurt the living. But when the first English pilgrims came to America there was no sugar beets. On the other hand, Pumpkins were aplenty and they chose to use it instead. Today, the pumpkins are an iconic symbol of Halloween.

Halloween in Denmark has received more followers over the past couple of years. However, the holiday is still relatively new as the only thing that it has in common with the American is the brightly lit pumpkin. And then, of course, it's creepy and ghastrly themes. Therefore, many see the Autumn holidays as a time for cutting pumpkins.

Another practice is that children of all ages go from door to door while dressed up. They usually say trick-or-treat when they knock. The phrase implies that if you do not give them treats, they will return later and scare you. Exactly as when people were originally afraid that the dead would come back to take revenge on the living.

The Dorm's clubs: Exercise room

In the last issue of NybroTidende we told of the Canoe and Kayak club, which is one of the largest clubs here at Nybrogård. We now take a look at the dormitory's Exercise club, which is also one of the biggest clubs with many members.

As a member of the club you have the opportunity to make use of the dorm's gym - a good alternative for when the coming autumn evenings get too dark and cold for outdoors exercise. The exercise room is located in the basement of entrance O and is open 24 hours a day.

To sign up for the exercise club (which is only for the residents of the dorm), 200kr. is paid when joining and includes payment for a year's cleaning. An amount of 100kr. is paid annually after the first year of membership.

To sign up as a member of the Exercise club, the club's terms of use must be signed and then be put in an envelope along with the 200 kr. which is to be handed to the inspector Lars Kaj. Here, the member's access card is activated immediately, and you use your laundry (the same object used for the laundry room and the washing machines) as an access card when you are set up.

The exercise room has a variety of machines and facilities. There are treadmills, rowing machines, exercise bikes and equipment for strength training. Here are also dumbbells with different weights, wall bars, and exercise mats. So it has all you need to do the training you want.

FEST & FARVER

Are you in need of a fun costume for the upcoming Oktoberfest? A creepy dress for a Halloween party? Or do you just like to dress up for fun? Then Fest & Farver is the right place to look.

At Lyngby Hovedgade 84 f you can find everything from jest items to wigs, hats and tableware.

During the month of October, the majority of the store's assortment will be replaced with more creepy dresses and a lot of accessories for Halloween parties.

From February, Fest & Farver will be moving to Likørstræde, where the store will be expanded with larger facilities. Follow-up when we reach February.

A tour of the Nybrogård Dormitory roof terraces

The last of the sun's rays appeared in mid September when NybroTidende on a sunny Sunday was touring the 9 different roof terraces of the dormitory. NybroTidende had decided to find out how much the terraces really differed from each other.

On the AB roof terrace there was a varied selection of rocking chairs, deckchairs and tables to be found. There was also both bed covers and even a sleeping bag hanging to dry.

CD's residents like to relax (maybe slack off?) during studies. At least they have a pair of hammocks hanging from the posts. Nevertheless, it seems that CD remembers the cleaning of the kitchens; they had two rows of yellow and blue cloths to dry.

The trip continued on to EF where a whole plant nursery was located at one end. Among all the plants was hidden a small raspberry or two.

At GH NybroTidende had a short talk with a couple of residents who said that they often use their terrace for drying clothes in stead of the driers; It is better for the environment with air drying even though it takes a little longer. Other than a lot of laundry and a couple of residents, there was also nothing otherwise exciting about GH.

The same could be said about JK, except that a couple of the male residents tried to benefit from the last few late summer sun.

LM has, like EF, been visited by nature; half a pine tree was broken into the end of the roof terrace. The wild tree, however, was the only major attraction at LM.

At NO there was something that could more or less be compared to that of CD; Instead of two hammocks, there were two lounging chairs. NO may also like to relax a little?

On to PR, NybroTidende got a bit of a surprise: A fridge on a roof terrace? NybroTidende asked a few residents about what this device was about. "During the summer months the fridge is set up so that there is always the possibility of keeping your drinks cold up there, so you do not have to go all the way down to the kitchens," was the answer.

Yet another surprise was to find on the last terrace, ST: In this case, there were neither plants nor refrigerators, but instead something as weird as a pink Barbie car with a certain genitalia drawn on it.

In general, the terraces are still different from each other, considering their close proximity. Despite the lovely weather, only a few residents had decided to go to the terrace. Perhaps you should make it more orderly to get more residents on them? It could be a spring project in connection with a kitchen cleaning? Unfortunately, as you know, the weather can not be controlled.

NB! Keep in mind that under no circumstances is it allowed to go on the roofs next to the roof terraces! At worst, this can lead to expulsion!

A) Formalization of the dorm Facebook group v. Rasmus Lau

The group has grown big. The current admins are a mixed bag, ca. Half from the network group.

There has not been a vote of rules for e.g. Approving new members, purchase / sale, advertising. Some requests for membership are rejected without further approval. There is also a lot of purchases / sales of things that are not relevant to very many (clothing, art).

We would like to discuss some completely basic, simple rules and vote on them at the meeting. In addition, we propose that the net group in the future be the only admins of the Facebook group to ensure consistency and an opportunity for NYK to keep track of it.

After discussion, the wording of the proposal is changed to include only a formalization of the Facebook group's administrators, so that it will only be the Net-group and other relevant bodies of the dormitory that contest administrator / moderator privileges.

The proposal is adopted.

B) Cinema club door replacement v. Lukas Abrahamsen Larsen (J-32)

The door to the Cinema Club has been replaced with the same system as the laundry room chips use. The problem is that the system can not handle any more doors, which means there are two options: We either buy separate washing chips for the Cinema Club, which will cost 100 kr. a Piece - or to upgrade our current system, which would make it free. The latter will cost 1,935.00 kr. a year but result in us being able to use our current chips. Additionally, a code will be assigned to each chip.

I therefore seek money to upgrade the system so that we can keep current chips instead of investing in separate.

Furthermore, I can not attend the next meeting, and will therefore send the former cinema club chairman in my place.

The Resident Council votes on awarding the Cinema club money to upgrade the current system, however, subject to whether the implementation of the new chip system is in the near future.

The request is approved.

C) New key bearer v. Rasmus Simling Kristensen (A-38)

Since Henrik relocated from the dorm we have been lacking a third key bearer for when someone locks themselves out. I would like to take up this post going forward.

It should be noted that everyone at the dorm can apply for the job by meeting at the council meeting on 4 September.

Rasmus Simling Kristensen is the only one who wants to apply for the job.

Vote on appointing Rasmus Simling Kristen as a new key bearer.

The proposal is adopted and Rasmus Simling Kristen is employed as a key bearer and must ensure that the dorm's key service page is updated.

D) Purchases for KælderCaféen after water damage and burglary. v. Kasper Hansen (R-66)

KælderCaféen has recently been exposed to accidents.

1. Flood in the basement
2. Burglary.

Therefore we, the board of the bar, have chosen to seek money as this is a larger amount that we can not pay immediately.

1. We want to buy a dehumidifier (file 1) it is not big enough to take the whole bar, but it will be able to cope with the space where we often fight the water.

The price is 2200 kr. for the one we have appointed.

The request is approved.

2. Regarding the burglary. Here we have had our safe deposit box stolen, with an internal value of around 10,000 DKK incl. iPad (for Mobile Pay) multiple valued papers from our suppliers, agreements and other types of important papers. In addition, sales for the last weeks were also stolen at the same time. Also our key bundle used inside the bar during openings was also stolen. This meant that we had to replace all the locks and keys throughout the bar and the warehouse.

Therefore, we would like to request money for replacement of locks and new keys, value: 6000

E) Creation of Dog club. v. Lærke Krøjer Larsen (H-56) & Cecilie Christensen (G-07)

We would like to restore a dogs club at the dorm, have it advertised on the website, and the opportunity to make social events for all dog interested in the dormitory (with or without dogs)

Lærke Krøjer Larsen is appointed as new chairman of the Dog Club.

New members and alternates

Katja (P-32) announces her withdrawal in absentia for PR.
Kasper (R-66) signs up for PR-Even.

Other

A) Lukas wants to withdraw as chairman of the Cinema Club. A new chairman of the Cinema Club is therefore sought.

B) Kasper mentions that it is time to arrange an active party for the Dormitory involved residents. This will probably be sometime in November. Information follows.

Next meeting

The next meeting will take place on Wednesday, November 4th at 7pm, GH basement.

Note: The meeting for the month of October is cancelled due to a lack of submitted agenda items.

Any cancellations must be submitted at www.nybro.dk > Residents' Council > Cancel at least one day before the meeting

Correction

In the last issue we wrote about study survey. Here we wrote that the surveys are sent to residents at around August / September.

However, this is a mistake in that they are sent approx. three months before your rental agreement ends. In the case of a correctly completed study survey, you will then see the contract renewed.

NybroTidende apologizes for the mistake.

Bicycle clean-up

A clean-up among the bicycles and trash will take place at Nybrogård dormitory on October 8th, 2017.

Everyone will receive one yellow cable-tie in their mailbox well before October 8th.

Mount the cable-tie in a visible position on the stem post or handlebar of your bicycle. Otherwise it will be removed. Everything else placed in or around the bicycle sheds must be marked in a similar visible fashion using the coloured cable-ties.

Additional cable-ties can, after they have been distributed to the mailboxes, be picked up at the janitors (Lars Kaj's) office during opening hours.

All unmarked bicycles and other items will be removed during the clean-up and handed over to the police as lost property.

The Residents Council will offer pizza and sodas to all who participate, after the event.

More information and reminders will follow as we get closer to the event.

Best regards
The board of Nybrogård dormitory

Running routes in the local area

Autumn is here! The calendar says October and it's time to come and enjoy the beautiful colours in nature around us. This can also be combined with exercise, for our own local area offers a lot of lovely trails, which give rise to some good nature experiences.

Some of the most obvious places to run routes are around the two big lakes near the dorm: Lyngby Lake and Bagsværd Lake. In this article I will describe the actual routes around the lakes and not least inspire other routes, which I regularly run.

1. Around Lyngby Lake

Lyngby Lake is just behind the dormitory, so you can just lace up your running shoes and then run away!

Starting from the dorm and running clockwise around the lake, you will first pass the big wooden bridge over Mølleåen. Then the trail is divided into three, and if you turn right you will be on the trail going around the lake. To the left, the path continues along Mølleåen to Frederiksdal, and the trail going straight forward is a bicycle path to Sorgenfri (there is a footpath parallel to this a little to the left of it).

Along the path around Lyngby Lake, you will reach small areas next to the water, which are ideal for a fishing trip. You will also go through the Lyngby Åmose area, which is a bog area that goes right up to the path around the lake. You will also come to Havnehytten, where there is a kiosk and live music on Sundays in the summer. Behind it, you'll run over Mølleåen again past Lyngby Canoe club. On the southeast side of the lake you pass the People's park, where people often go for picnic on the grass.

On the south side, the trail is narrow and it can be densely populated, so sometimes you have to "wait" on other runners. The trip is a total of approx. 4.5 km long. However, the trail can be very wet with many large water puddles if it has been raining for a few days.

2. Around Bagsværd Lake

Bagsværd Lake is a lot larger than Lyngby Lake, so the trip around this is longer.

I usually start on the other side of Nybrogård (the white building on the other side of Nybrovej) and then run clockwise around the lake. Along the way you will pass Radiomarken and Bagsværd Lake park and Aldershvile Castle park. You also go past Bagsværd Rowing stadium, which is Denmark's national rowing stadium - you can see the rowing lanes in the lake, where competitions are often held.

On the north side of the lake, you pass Sophienholm, and here you have to go back on Nybrovej, as the last part of the lake is on private grounds. To get up to Nybrovej, you have to climb up a steep path, so the running muscles are tested correctly.

On the way back to the dorm, you will be past the Prime Minister's residence Marienborg, and Nybro Kro and then you will be back to the college after an approx. 7.5 km run. However, this trip may also be very wet and muddy if it has rained a lot.

3. Route in Bagsværd

There is no illumination around the lakes, so if you, like me, do not like running in the dark, I have another suggestion for a route that you can try.

First, run down Nybrovej towards Lyngby, and after a short distance run down Bagsværd Møllevej (this path is not illuminated in the evening, and is therefore also called "Rapistpath"). At the end of this you go along the main road Bagsværdvej down to the road Bindeledet. After this you pass Bagsværd Station and turn right to Bagsværd Hovedgade. This continues until it crosses with Bagsværdvej which you run down on your right back towards Bagsværd Møllevej, and then back to the dorm. This trip is approx. 7 km long. However, only on asphalt and pavement.

If you want another route or to test how long your route is, you can use the website www.loberute.dk. This page I use to measure my paths. You can also use this to see your average speed, and you can also share your routes with others or get inspired by others' routes.

Of course you are also welcome to contact me if you want to go for a run some day :-)

Have a good run.

Frederik, H2

Know your city: Bondebyen

From Frederiksdal we move east to the east of Lyngby Main Street and Kongevejen. You may have cycled through when you go to DTU. It looks like a village in the middle of Lyngby, with timber houses and thatch roofs. You are in the middle of the peasants' Town.

The farm town is an example of how a Danish village looked 100-200 years ago. But even if one would believe it, it's not a museum, because all houses are still inhabited. The houses were bought by the municipality of Lyngby-Taarbæk in 1950-1980, and it was initially intended that the houses would be demolished: as a north-bound bypass to solve the traffic problems in Lyngby City Centre was wanted. But the plans were changed, and it was decided that the houses should instead be preserved and renovated. And thus, Bondebyen is today, as it was 200 years ago.

The Peasants' town has its name from the city originally being its own village with farmhouses which still stand today. In the 1700s and 1800s, you would practically be in the country side if you were in the present farm town. At that time there was no "Urban area of Copenhagen", so you could hardly say that you were in the middle of the metropolitan area, as you would do today. Therefore, some of the houses were also used by wealthy Copenhageners who wanted to get away from the city and into the countryside.

Today, it is estimated that Bondebyen is one of the best preserved villages in the urban area of Copenhagen, even though it is located in the middle of today's Lyngby..

Asylgade

In Asylgade there are many old houses with thatched roof and timber. Asylgade 3 is the children's nursery, called "Asylet" (The Asylum). In the 19th century, the word "asylum" did not have the same meaning as today, as an asylum was a nursery and kindergarten for working women's children.

In Asylgade 7, the country house "Løkken" is located, where, 200 years ago, musical gatherings were held on the long summer evenings by merchant Johann Friederich Tutein. In the winter, he retired to his second home in Copenhagen, where the music continued in the winter.

Food house Frøken Friis

In the old merchant's house at the village pond, where coffee and cake are served but also breakfast, brunch, sandwiches and, in particular, the day's dish in the evening. The pricing is relatively affordable and there is a really nice atmosphere inside the café with old furniture and other inventory. In addition, the bar counter remains a long desk, as it was when it was still a grocery store.

Støvlet Katrine's House

The old white house with thatched roof on Old Lundtoftevej 31 is called Støvlet Katrine's House. It was named after Støvlet Katrine, who was King Christian VII's mistress. She died in 1805, but the house was built in 1808 so that's why the name is a bit funny. However, the house was used as a cottage for rich Copenhageners.

Lyngby Kirke

At the foot of the town of Bondeby you will find Lyngby Church between Lyngby Hovedgade, Gammel Lundtoftevej and Lyngby Kirkestræde. The church was built in the 12th century in a romantic style and is Lyngby's oldest building. With only 1 km to Sorgenfri Castle, where the Danish royal family often lived, the church was also used as a church for the royal family.

Lyngby Church is basically located in the town of Bondeby, as it is bounded to Lyngby Hovedgade.

The church received a thorough renovation in 2011-2012. Behind the church lies the old pastoral building, which is still being used as a pastoral court.

How to get to Bondebyen

The easiest and fastest way to get to the town from the dorm is to cycle either along Lyngby lake and Rustenborgvej or S. Schandorphs Road and Gammel Bagsværdvej. Alternatively, take bus line 191 to Lyngby Station and then switch to Line 170, 184 or 194 to Lyngby Church.

Autumn Activities

September kicked off officially in the autumn with lots of rain and storm, where an apple tree had to let go of life outside entry O. Poor Squirrel ... And there are probably a couple of us who think: "Sigh, is summer already over?". But just think of how many cool things you can do in Autumn!

When you ask for activities you can do in the Autumn, people usually think of chestnuts. All you need is some matches, chestnuts and a sharp instrument. That sound straight forward, but is it just me or is it actually quite difficult? When trying to make a giraffe, it looks like a deformed monster that can even keep standing? But maybe it's not the result that's important, but more so enjoying yourself together with others while making them - and of course, laughing at each other's abominations.

The next thing I've been having fun with through the years in the Autumn is to go for a walk in the woods and walk a refreshing quiet walk - or slide wildly downhill when it's been raining. It's pretty dirty and maybe a bit exhausting, but so fun! Imagine snowboarding without the board! You use your boots to slide down the mud, and yes there is a big chance that you lose your balance or roll down instead, but that's just a minor, slightly insignificant detail;)

Okay, if rolling in mud is not exactly you, you can always go to -your idyllic walk in the beautiful autumn nature. Especially when we have some great lakes available a stones throw from the dorm. There are many different things nature has to offer if you just look an extra time. You can collect leaves in all sorts of colours and press them, after which you can use them for decoration or in creative projects as a sweet card you can send to your grandparents.

You can also find mushrooms around - and even edible mushrooms. Some are good in cooking others get you high. But seriously, so if you want to make it a project, then it's probably best to get to know the fungi to avoid the risk of getting poisoned. Karl Johan mushrooms are some of the more common to find that are good to eat. A good rule of thumb is never to touch those who are red with white dots. The Danish Nature Agency website is probably the first place to look: www.naturstyrelsen.dk/naturoplevelser/naturen-netop-nu/efteraar/svampejagt/.

Keep an eye out for the weather, because if there is a lot of rain during the autumn, while at the same time warm, many edible penny buns/porcini come up from their shelter under the fallen leaves. This is another reason why autumn is the best to go on mushroom hunting as the best time to hunt for these little delicious devils are after a long period of rain - this description usually fits well with Danish autumn weather. There is a list of good advice on the website of the Nature Agency and one of them is never eating wild mushrooms in raw condition - wild mushrooms must be cooked before they are okay to put your teeth in them.

If you're not the biggest nature fanatic, then you can always try to gather in a kitchen to have 'hyggelige' moments together. You can make a game of Thrones evening, play board games or bake a really delicious pumpkin cake (see page 11) and brew a pitcher of tea.

Okay, nature is beautiful, but you're not really feeling like walking around in it and, activities along with one's friends are fun, but what if I'd like something a little more festive? Find your creative side and get ready to dress up, because there are probably lots of Halloween parties, both promised by October and KælderCaféen in early November. But why hold a Halloween party in November? Halloween is over for a while? OKTOBERFEST! That's the reason. One is being held down in the basement bar which, to put it mildly, becomes an beer extravaganza. So there are two cool parties on the program in the near future!

NybroTidende Food Column: Autumn dishes

The beautiful October is finally here! Yes, it may be that it gets colder and darker, but what better than to celebrate it with beer, fun spook and scary pumpkins?

Easy Octoberfest inspired sausage mix (4 servings)

Ingredients:

2 ½ kg. potatoes

4 onions

500 g. Sausages, sliced

200 g. (Or more) Bacon

5 tbsp. paprika

Procedure:

Turn on the oven at 200 ° fan assisted. Scrub the potatoes and peel the onions. Cut both ingredients into coarse cubes (the onions preferably in slightly larger pieces than the potatoes), and the sausages in slices.

Mix onions, potatoes, bacon and sausages in a oven safe or aluminium dish and mix with oil, paprika, salt and pepper (you can, in principle, use any spice you'd find fitting).

Fry for an hour at 200 C°, fan assisted. Flip the mix several times along the way.

Serve the sausage mix when potatoes, onions and sausages are crispy. Serve with (curry) ketchup and mustard. It would also be great to serve with coleslaw, but even better to serve it with beer.

Spider Bread with extra creeps (8 servings)

Ingredients:

25 g. Toadyeast

250 g. Ground Lizardbrainflour

40 g. Butterfat from a yellow cat

35 g. Fairypowderedsugar

1 small dragon's egg

1 dl. Warm werewolf's milk

1 Pinch of childtearsalt

55 g. Witch wort raisins

1 tsk. Madam Cardamom's magic powder

1 Whipped dragon's egg with mixed with a little water for glazing.

Procedure:

Dissolve the toadyeast in lukewarm milk and add the dragon's egg, fairypowdered-sugar, childtearsalt, witch wort raisins and Madam Cardamom's magic powder. The Butterfat is crumbled in the lizardbrain-flour. Take your magic wand, disguised like a simple wooden spoon and mix it all together until you have a nice, tough dough. You may need to use your hands!

Let the magic mix rest for 40 min. while covered in a magical cloth.

Preheat the oven to 200 C° and sprinkle a little lizardbrainflour on the table and knead the leftover dough until it becomes smooth and stops sticking to your fingers. Divide the dough into 8 identical pieces. Each piece is again divided into a large piece (body) and 8 smaller pieces (leg), which you form into a spider.

Lay the spiders on a baking sheet lined with baking parchment paper.

Let them for approx. 15 min. And spice the spiders with whipped Dragon Eggs. Use raisinworts as eyes and put them in the middle of the hot oven.

Make sure they are well-cooled before serving to avoid itching and scratching sensations in your stomach.

Seasoned pumpkin cake with cream cheese frosting

Ingredients:

3 eggs

200 g. Sugar (about 2 ¼ dl)

200 g. Butter

300 g. Pumpkin, e.g. Hokkaido

½ Pressed orange

200 g. Wheat flour (about 3½ dl)

2 tsp. Baking powder

1 ½ teaspoon. Ground ginger

1 ½ teaspoon. Ground nutmeg

Procedure:

Remove the kernels from the pumpkin and cut it into large slices which you peel (do not cut too close to peel). Shred the pumpkin roughly - you'll need approx. 300 g. Stir the butter and sugar well. Add one egg at a time and stir well between each. add the pumpkin and orange juice into the egg mixture. Mix wheat flour, ginger and baking soda and gently add it through a sieve into the dough. Bring the dough into a greased form and bake the cake for one hour at 175 C° on a plate with baking paper in the middle of the oven.

Ingredients - cream cheese frosting:

60 g. Soft butter

120 g. Powdered sugar

1 tsp. Vanilla Sugar

100 g. Philadelphia cream cheese

Procedure:

Whip butter and icing powdered sugar well. Whip the cream cheese, but be careful not to over do it as it may get thin.

Spread the frosting over the cooled cake.

Bon appetite!

App of the month: TivoliPuzzle

If you are the type who loves fun experiences, 'hygge' and not least amusements, then you probably wouldn't say no thank you to a trip to Denmark's most visited amusement parks. However, Tivoli is one of the more expensive pleasures. The popular and very touristy garden costs 120 kr. in entrance fee, and if you want to enjoy the many rides, it will be 230 kr. (255 if you want the experience of Tivoli's new Virtual Reality system in the ride 'Demonen').

Due to these less than SU-friendly prices, Tivoli has launched an app that can give the guest a cheaper trip in the garden.

How the app works: The game itself is quite simple; You play on square plate, and have to remove as many symbols as possible by having the identical symbols align.

As you play through the Tivoli Puzzle universe, voucher points are collected. These points can eventually be exchanged for entrance tickets, unlimited rides ticket, a durum in Tivoli, etc.

The app can be found on both Android and iOS appstores.

All in all: If you are interested in saving these kroner, you should not be the type who thinks that 'time is money'; Instead, you have to invest a lot of time to earn points for the savings. If you're a fan of the game Candy Crush, you'd love this game!
